REMARKS

Applicants note that the discussion of the allowable subject matter appearing in the Notice of Allowability dated November 30, 2010 includes an examiner's statement of the reasons for allowance. In his statement, the examiner indicates that the prior art fails to teach the limitations in the independent claims. To the extent that anything in the examiner's statement is interpreted as a characterization of the prior art of record, or a characterization of Applicant's claims, Applicant does not concede to such interpretations, and reserves the right to challenge such interpretations.

Applicant respectfully submit that the file wrapper of the case sets forth the discussion of claims and references leading up to allowance of the claims, and sets forth the features relied upon for patentability over the cited references. The discussion in the examiner's statement should be interpreted as consistent with the case history, and not as changing or adding to the substantive discussion of the file wrapper.

Respectfully submitted,
BLAKELY, SOKOLOFF, TAYLOR & ZAFMAN, LLP
